

Unparalleled Love ~

LORD, how beautiful to be reminded by the simplest creation You've made on earth! Unfolding before our very eyes are ones that breathe of Your love and candor. So much beauty to behold, exquisite in their own fragrances, radiant in their hues, rhapsodies beyond understanding... virgin forests that hold Your essence.... Every one of them breathes of Your love.

You breathed Your life into each of the beautiful flowers, the mountains, the waters, the trees, the galloping antelopes and deers, the long-winding roads littered by the opulence of green and wild blooms, the animals in their melodious sounds, the soothing breeze that embraces us... and the rain smells of Your affection. Summer is almost here and most of us get choked with the beauty to behold in the heart and here they stay forever. All the seasons You provide show how much of that love You have to offer to those willing to receive. Such breathtaking explosions take place every moment and our senses are spoiled. So fitting and proper that we take that needed pause in our busy life and start to know You and Your gifts so healing and mending. Hues of colors unimaginable to behold, night and day, and we are caught in their midst.

Thank You for Your love so great and unparalleled. Quenched is our thirst... and Your love, yes, Your love, dear LORD, feeds the hunger of our inner souls. How can we thank You for all of these?

Every day is another walk to a new beginning. Thank You for giving us always the chance to find You in the midst of life's trials. Each day You make a morning to remind us that there is that living hope You offer and that we can only find so if we know You and are obedient to Your will.

Please help us find You in the midst of the rumbles and uncertainties. Thank You for not leaving us. You already know of our needs and we are aware of Your caring ways. Let us be vessels of hope and love to others that they, too, may understand the cravings in their souls... left in silence with You, we will be guided by Your HOLY SPIRIT to the path where we can spend those special moments with You that our souls be unceasingly fed. We love You so very much.
